Father Darkleaf

By c. h. r.

What happens to me, shouldn't happen to anyone. I like to stay "ahead of the game" and manage, somehow, to keep from behind the eight ball. Thus and so, and wherefore and whereas, I often write this column on week-ends, so that press-day rushes will not mire me in. No point in coming up to a Thursday morning and wondering what to do about a yawning gap of blank space where these prosiac dalliances are want to sojourn. And it was that way this past week-end. I did my column, all two and one-half typewritten pages of it, and stuck it aside, feeling, "Well, that is behind me." On top of that, I thought it well to keep up the recent "new look" in the column by inserting another snapshot from the family album. A picture was selected and removed from the wall of my basement museum, and sent off to the engraver. Ah yes, everything was hunky-dory.

Abeit, and whereas, and so-what—when time came to put the aforesaid column into type, the copy was not to be found. It had gone with the wind, flown the coop and all that. I thought it had been up to my humble average. I recall the general idea of what I had in mind when I wrote it, but any experienced writer can tell you that inspiration does not repeat itself too well—write it while the idea is hot, or else you can not recapture the zip of the thing for a re-write.

And, so on Thursday morning, as press time is at hand, I am stuck with an engraving, but no column. I think now, that what I had in mind was to chat about the 64,000 people who visited Old Appomattox C. H. last year, and how we could get this figure on a diet of fattening foods and festivities for 1957. I had in mind, that lots of traffic rolls up and down U. S. 5, 15, and even 11 and 301, not realizing that a short side trip would enable these people to visit Appomattox, one of the great shrines of the nation. I thought that we should have some jumbo size billboards at key spots on these routes, to call attention to the whereabouts of Appomattox. I recalled that in my travels, often some huge sign pointing the way, has caused me to leave the main through route and take a side trip to view a spot associated with an Evangeline, Billy the Kid, Lum 'n Abner, or Judge Bean. And so it was that I sent in a snapshot of your editor beside a state line sign, with the idea that such signs are good advertising, and do attract patronage. People really go for taking pictures beside the Suwannee River, the border, some natural wonder, historic shrine, etc. Appomattox should welcome many extra visitors during the Jamestown Festival Year of 1957, and we might well stir about to find more ways to present our "pitch" to the traveling public. This is not the way I first wrote the column, but it does convey the general idea.

Our friend, Mr. F. W. Henenkrat was in to see us this week. He looks hale and hearty, and his cheerful personality is an asset to our community. Come June 12, he will be 85 years old. He and Mrs. Hanenkrat have been married 64 years, and lived in Appomattox for forty years.

"Appomattox is a growing town" item: The late Capt. Dick Abbitt once told a newsman that Appomattox would never grow much. He said it was entirely too near Vera to have a chance!

Canneries Set A Record Output Last Year

Nine-two thousand cans of fruits, vegetables, and meats were processed in the county's two community canneries during 1956. The canning season which runs from July 1, to December 31, saw a total of 881 people making use of the cannery facilities. The county's two canneries are located at Appomattox High School, in Appomattox, and at Pamplin School in Pamplin.

This 92,661 cans is an increase of almost 30,000 cans over the 1955 total. In 1955, there were 63,923 cans processed in the county. Break-down of the 92,661 cans shows that 56,664 were put up in the Appomattox cannery, and 35,997 in the Pamplin cannery.

In addition to canning this large amount of food, 5,414 pounds of sausage was prepared. A total of 16,652 pounds of lard was rendered. Over 1,000 pounds of food was also prepared in the canneries for freezing.

Daily instructions in the best methods of preparing and canning the food was given in the canneries. In the Appomattox cannery Mrs. Emma Lemon and Mr. Walter Phelps gave this instruction. Clayton Phelps fired the boiler, and helped with the cookers. At Pamplin, Mrs. A. R. Southall instructed in preparation and canning. Russell Mack fired the boiler and helped with the cookers.

Both canneries are supervised by the Appomattox County School System. General supervision is given by the home economics teachers and the instructors of vocational agricultural.

CAN KEEY ACREAGE ALLOTMENT FOR FARM

For purposes of determining future allotments farmers may preserve their farm acreage history whether or not the allotted acreage is planted, the State Administrative Officer for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, has announced. This provision stems from a revision in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended.

In order to preserve acreage history, the owner or operator of a farm must execute and file a written request with the ASC county office. This request must be filed not later than a date considered to be prior to 60 days preceding the beginning of the marketing of the commodity on which the acreage history is to be preserved. Such dates are as follows: flue-cured tobacco, May 1; Burley, fire-cured, Maryland, and sun-cured tobacco, August 1, and wheat, May 1.

Under some allotment programs farmers are permitted to release the farm allotment for reapportionment to other farms. Once the request to preserve acreage history is filed no allotment may be released. Furthermore, no request for preservation of acreage history may be filed for acreage which is reapportioned from another farm.

The form on which farmers may request preservation of acreage history is available at the county ASC office.

Abbitt Advises Of Leat Meeting

Representative Watkins M. Abbitt, (D-Va.), said today, "The Department of Agriculture has agreed to meet with representatives of the Dark-Fired Tobacco industry in Washington to go over the situation regarding the setting of the 1957 Dark-Fired Tobacco Allotment. January 1 has been set as the date for the meeting."

Abbitt said, "I hope very much that we can prevail upon the Department not to reduce the allotment for 1957. I feel that the supply situation is such that a cut in the allotment for 1957 will not be necessary. Certainly I shall do everything I can to prevent any cut in the allotment."

Abbitt pointed out that, "A further cut would be very harmful to not only the farmers, but the entire domestic industry, as well as our export trade. Our production is so small now that it is almost impossible for our domestic and import buyers to secure the grades they need to meet the demands of the trade."

REHABILITATION STORY TOLD TO LOCAL CLUB

The Rehabilitation Story, with a happy ending, was related by a technicolor moving picture shown Monday afternoon at a meeting of the Women's Club of Appomattox. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the Appomattox Elementary School, and entertainment was sponsored by The Welfare Department, of which Mrs. Hazel R. Mann is chairman.

A major portion of this interesting and informative picture was made at the Veterans Hilton Rehabilitation Center at Fishersville. The picture gave first hand information of this state-supported institution and the wonderful work being carried on there to the end that the physically and mentally handicapped may become rehabilitated by learning a trade or vocation adaptable to the individual.

Mrs. Mann presented Garland Grammar, Area Supervisor of the Vocational Rehabilitation Service of the Virginia State Board of Education for the Western Area of Virginia. Mr. Grammar revealed that 2,000 Virginians were taking advantage of this rehabilitation opportunity and that the ranks were increasing each year. He cited a number of individual cases he had personally followed through which the results were gratifying to him and proved most beneficial to the handicapped.

Mr. Grammar urged the club members to accept it as their duty to report any persons who might desire and be eligible for this rehabilitation training program.

Accompanying Mr. Grammar here was Stover Creasey, District Supervisor, Lynchburg Area, Rehabilitation Center.

Presided over by Mrs. Harold Y. Spencer, president, a business meeting was held, disposing of routine matters.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Frances Cheatham, Mrs. W. C. Holderman, Mrs. David R. Caldwell, and Mrs. Thomas Goolsby.

Hometown Jubilee Next Wed., Thurs.

Mr. Kenneth Christopher, principal of Appomattox High School, has announced that the high school will present the home talent show, "Hometown Jubilee" at the high school auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 16 and 17. Proceeds will be divided between the high school and the P.-T. A.

"Hometown Jubilee" is a two-hour musical variety show. Clever and unusual stunts, skits and gags of the 1890's and 1900's are spun-in, impersonating Bob Hope. The rest of the show takes the honored couple on a "trip down memory lane," recalling events of the past 50 years. "Hometown Jubilee' salutes our country with an inspiring patriotic number, our town, our schools, and our churches. On Wednesday night, Rev. Clyde Shelton will appear, and on Thursday, Rev. Colin Godwin.

A stage full of cute youngsters who attend "Glamour School" will bring the magic of make believe. Mrs. Mary Watt George appears as their teacher.

Bobby Mitchell will represent Bing Crosby and will cavort with songs, skits and the Floredora girls. There are two proposal scenes, one as it might have happened 50 years ago, and another between two hepcats.

Included in the cast of special numbers are R. V. Leffers, Jim Lucado, and William Burke. Also Kenneth Christopher, Jutson Morris, Walter Henry, Twyman Coleman, Peggy Smith and Charles Thomas Moses, jr.

A Tiny Tot Popularity Contest to select Appomattox's little king and queen of "Hometown Jubilee" will be held.

Boys and girls entered in the contest are up to six years of age. It is one cent a vote.

Pictures of the contestants are on display in R. D. Robinson's window, and voting jars have been placed in stores and other business places around town.

The winners will be crowned and prizes awarded at Thursday night's performance by Mayor R. D. Robinson.

Anyone wishing to enter a child in the contest is asked to call Mrs. W. S. Gills, contest chairman, phone 2981.

The entire production is under the direction of Miss Irma Dudley, of Silver Spring, Maryland.

A. H. S. WINS GAME

The Appomattox Blue Hornets upset high-riding Buckingham Central, who a few weeks past had defeated A. H. S. by some 25 points. Tuesday night the shoe was on the other foot, as the boys of Appomattox High played excellent ball, except from the foul line, where about half the shots were missed.

The Blue Hornets were trailing at half time, but overcame the first difficulties to win 46 to 40.

Girls Lose

The girls' team of Appomattox High, who are still undefeated in conference play, lost to a fine Buckingham girys' team by a close score. The girls played fine and cold ball, first scoring and making fine plays, and then easing up. This was their second loss to Buckingham.
